

Jon Moore

Position/Department/Division/Institution/Organization

Chief Executive Officer, BloombergNEF

Country

United Kingdom

Career history

Jon has spent the last decade at BloombergNEF, operating as CEO since 2014. He joined the business in 2008 and was previously Deputy CEO.

BloombergNEF has 200 staff in 16 countries. The business provides strategic research to support the transformations taking place in clean energy, advanced transportation and digitization of industry, and their impact on key commodities (Oil, Gas, Coal, Carbon and Power). Jon has focused on servicing strategy, investment and policy professionals at major Corporations, Financial Institutions and Governments.

Prior to BloombergNEF, Jon also spent 22 years' experience of building professional service firms in the financial services industry, across the US, Europe and Asia. From 1986, Jon spent a decade at J P Morgan (in their Commodities business) and Accenture (within their Financial Services practice). In 1996, Jon was co-founder and CEO of a business consulting firm, m.a.partners, where he spent over a decade servicing global Capital Markets clients.

Areas of expertise

Finance and Energy industry trends, in response to Technological and Climate Change
Business strategy and innovation