

Yasui Itaru

Position/Department/Division/Institution/Organization

Honorary Adviser, National Institute of Technology and Evaluation (NITE);

Emeritus Professor, The University of Tokyo

Honorary Adviser, Institute of Promotion for Sustainable Society

Country

Japan

Career history

2020-	Honorary Adviser, Institute of Promotion for Sustainable Society
2015-2020	President, Institute of Promotion for Sustainable Society
2009-2015	President, National Institute of Technology and Evaluation
2008	Senior Fellow, Japan Science and Technology Agency
2005-	Emeritus Professor, The University of Tokyo
2003-2007	Vice-Rector, United Nations University
1990-2003	Professor, Institute of Industrial Science, The University of Tokyo
1979	Associate Professor, Institute of Industrial Science, The University of Tokyo
1973	Research Associate, The University of Tokyo

Areas of expertise

Interested in new technologies and methodologies to reduce per capita CO₂ emission within 20 - 30 years including ways of thinking and social systems in advanced countries. Ways of Cooperation between developed and under developing countries are other interests.

Fields: CO₂ Reduction Technologies, Life Cycle Assessment, Risk Assessment, Risk Communication, Management of Chemical Substances