

Izumi Tanaka

Position/Department/Division/Institution/Organization

Senior Commercial Officer (Energy and Environment), Royal Danish Embassy Tokyo

Country

Denmark

Career history

Izumi is a Senior Commercial Officer at the Royal Danish Embassy with a focus on advising Danish entities regarding the Japanese market in sustainable development, energy and environment. Clients served include from various industries such as wind, biomass, biogas, smart grid, district heating/energy, hydrogen and water and policy-makers in Denmark. In addition to working with the industrial players, she has worked extensively with innovation/research communities in the field. Prior to joining Royal Danish Embassy/The Trade Council Tokyo, she has worked for the Embassy of Sweden/Swedish Agency for Growth Policy Analysis analyzing policies on sustainable development in Japan and for Toshiba Corporation as a researcher. She has worked in Japan for 20 years in this field. Izumi has Bachelor of Science in Environmental Sciences from University of California, Berkeley and Master of Environment Studies from Tohoku University in Japan.

Areas of expertise

Sustainable development, energy and environment